GROW – EXPLORE – DISCOVER

Newsletter 7 March 2025

Hasn't it been lovely to see the sun shining?

We are trying to encourage the children to drink more so please can you ensure you send in a named bottle with water in it. If for some reason your child cannot drink water please let your child's teacher know as we are still trying to promote the healthy option of drinking water. Also, as the children are taking their coats and jumpers off more please can you make sure that they are all clearly named.

Thank you to everyone who joined us at our coffee morning this week. It was so lovely to see so many of you in the hall chatting.

It was great to have our new Family Support Advisor Mrs Dummelow there. She works on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings and an extra afternoon. Mrs Dummelow has lots of experience in this role and will be happy to support and signpost you... she also makes a good cup of tea! Her email address is ddummelow@woodfield.gloucs.sch.uk or she can be contacted on the school phone 01453 543535.

Thank you for bringing in donations of good quality books to sell at our book sale tomorrow. We will not be pricing the books but would appreciate any financial contributions. Any money we make will be put towards new books for our library. If you haven't already please can you pop a photo on Tapestry of your child reading 'anywhere but a chair' so that we can share these. Please remember your child can come in comfy clothes tomorrow. A World Book Day token will be coming home with your child.

Attendance

The government has set a target of 95% attendance for all pupils. At the end of last week our attendance was 93.1% which is below where it should be. We want your children to attend school regularly as this gives them the best start in life; they will be able to keep up with their work and develop social skills and friendships. If your child misses days off school for unauthorised holidays, birthday treats, day trips, concerts or going shopping then this will have an impact on your child's learning. Please support your child in attending regularly and on time so good habits are established at a young age.
